13 Hashers, 1 Dog, 1 Cocky and a few weird looking Chickens

It was super small this week – and it wasn't even cold (that's a Seinfeld reference 😊 ).

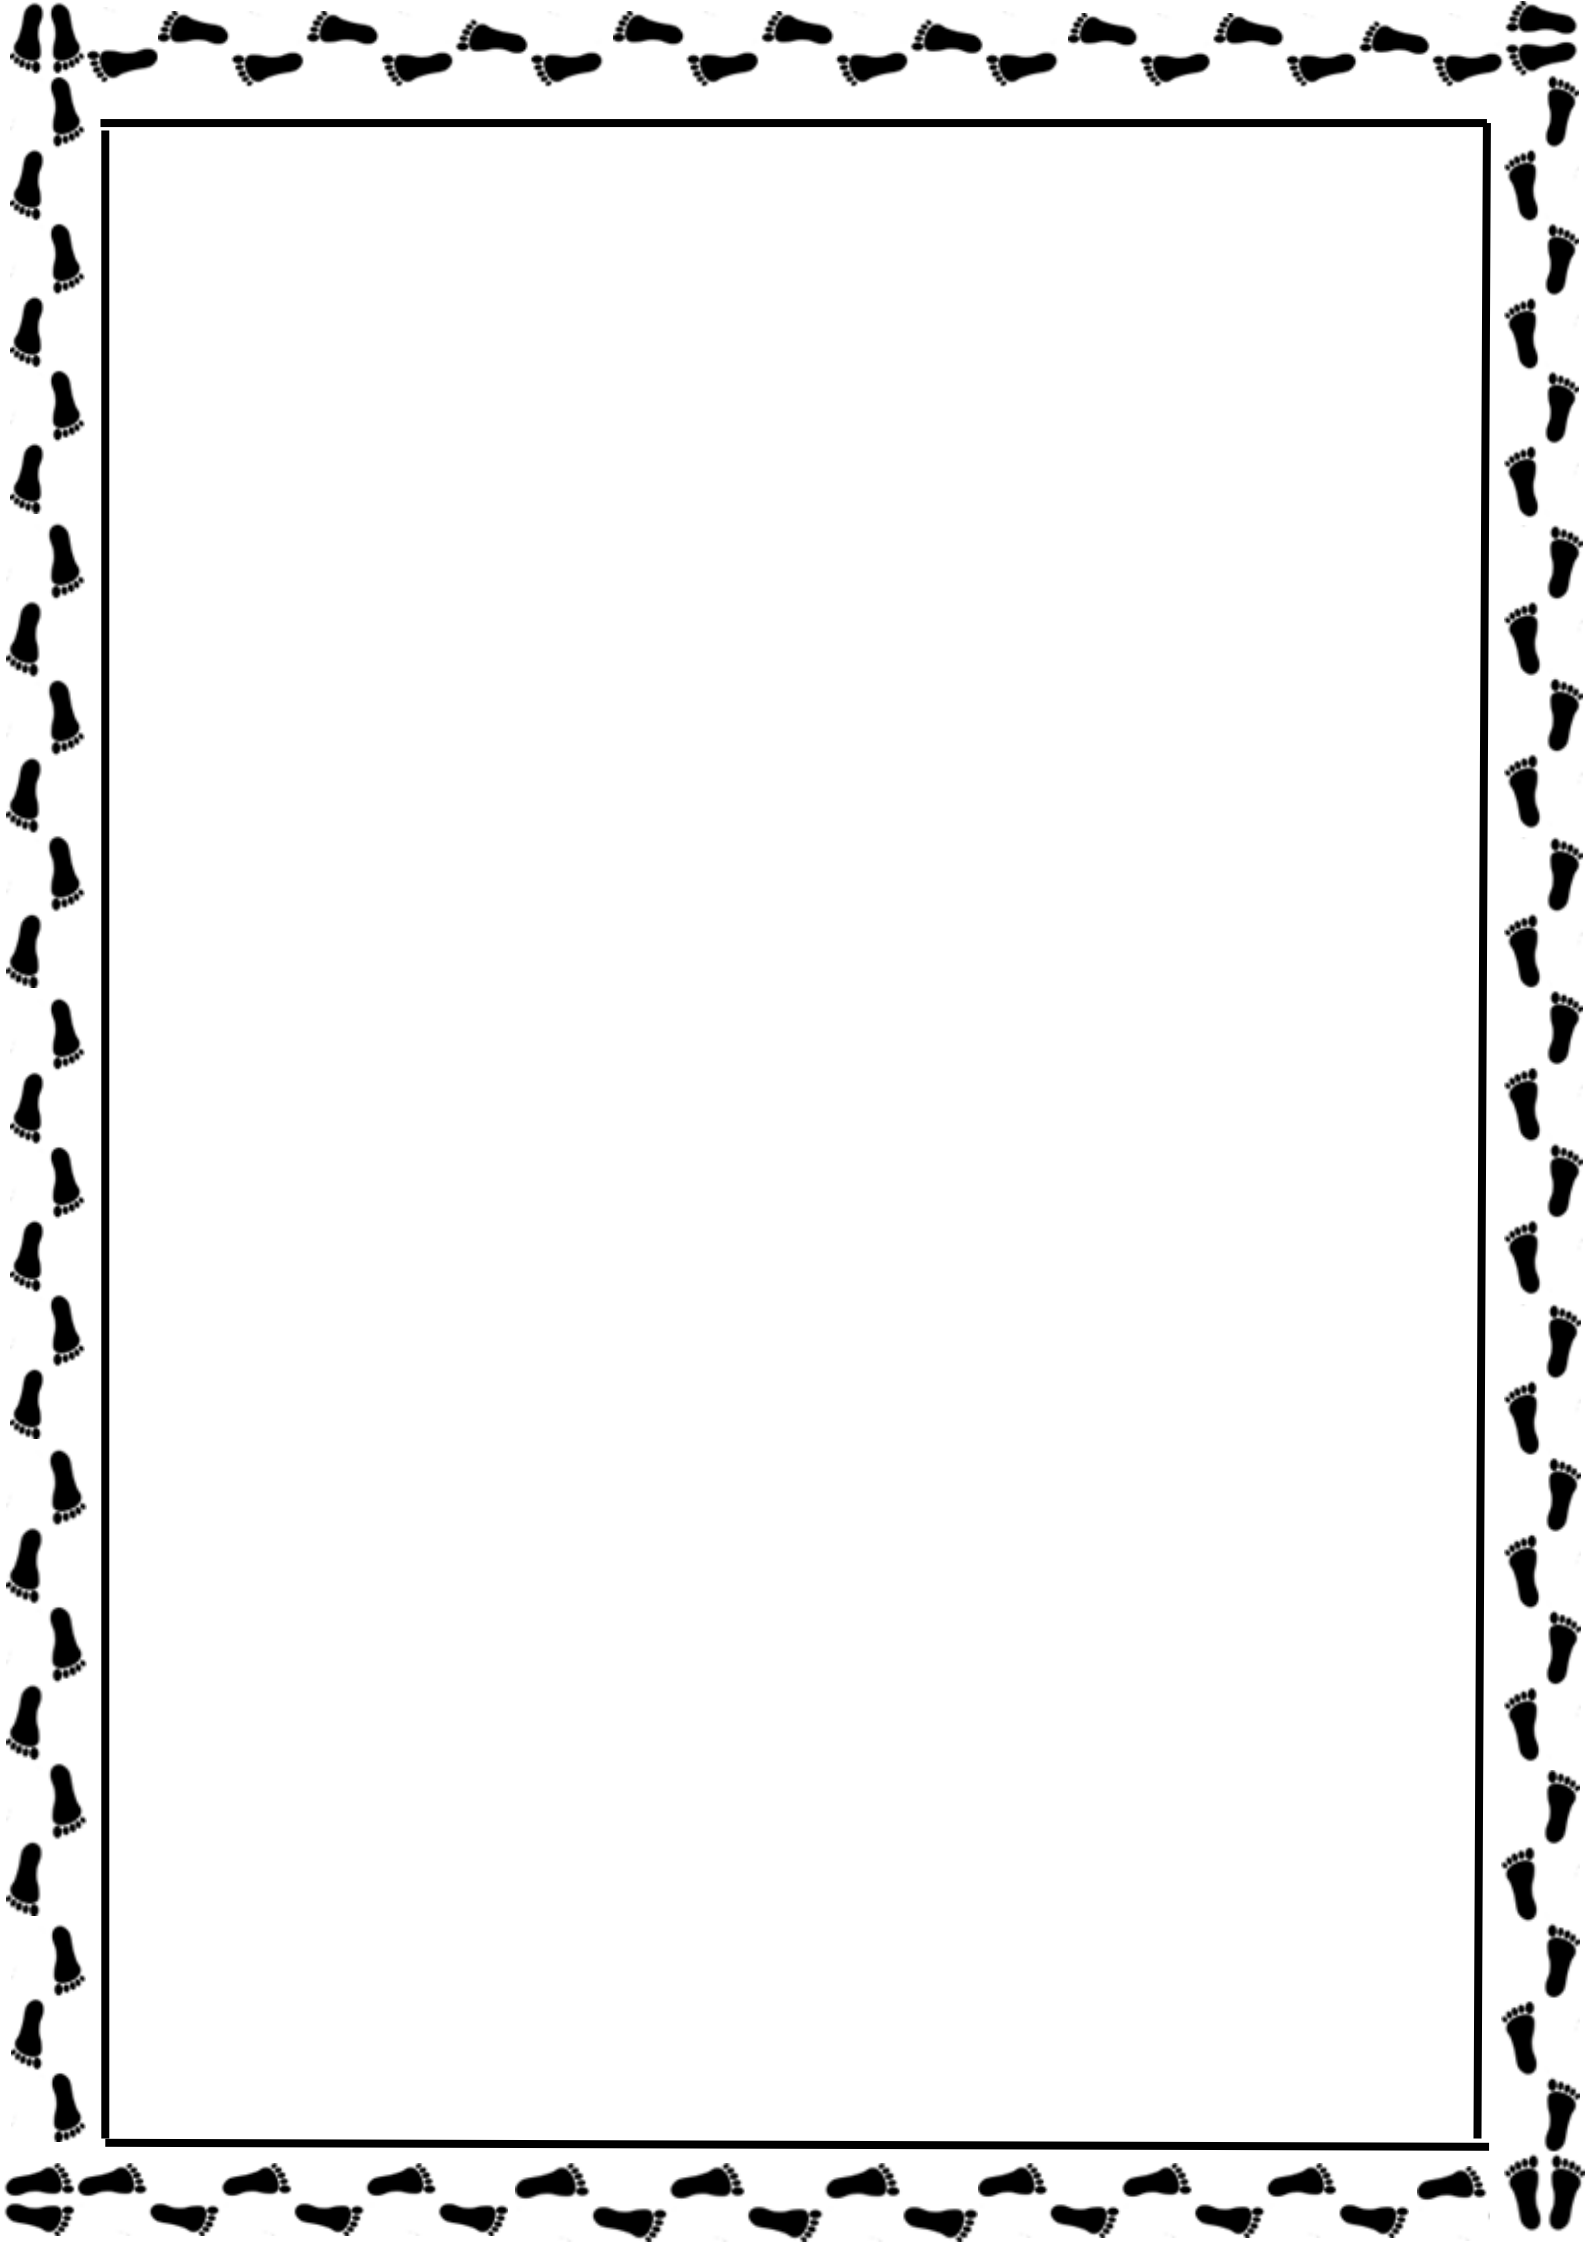

Perhaps it was due to the fact that I had sent a message to our group earlier to say that I would be AWOL for a month and the group would need to find Trash writers (and senders) while I was gone. The lazy bastards didn't want to get nominated, so they thought they'd stay home.

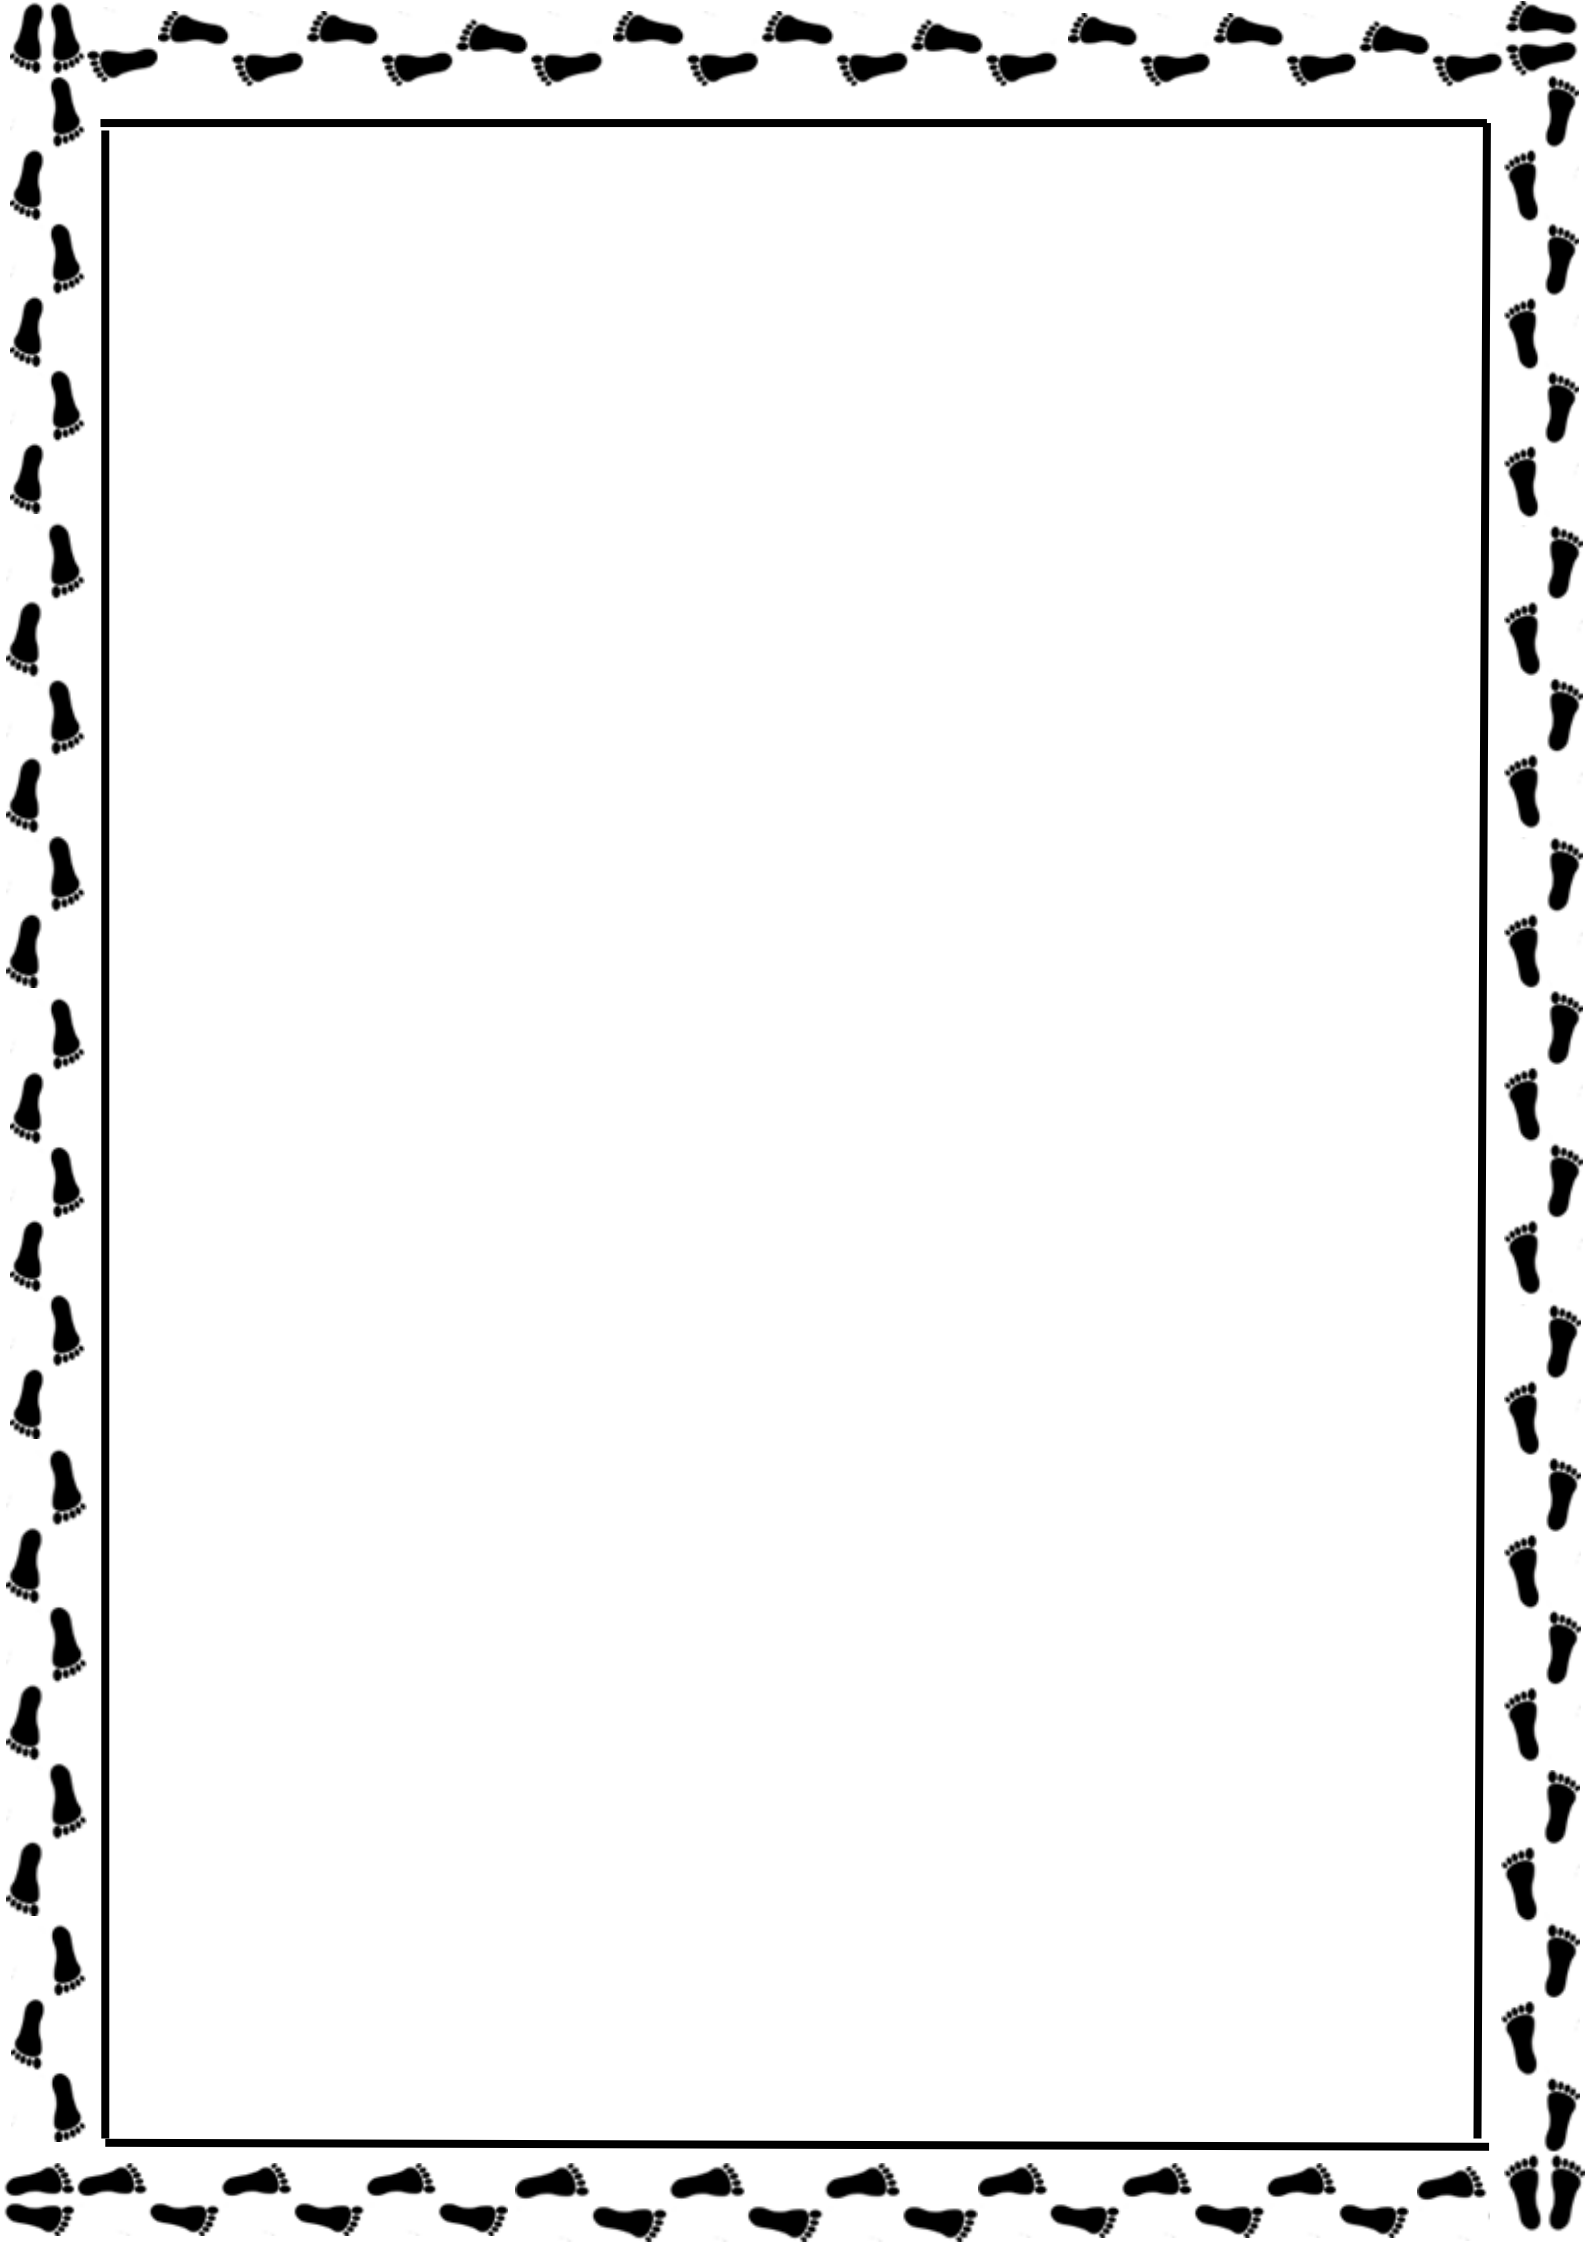

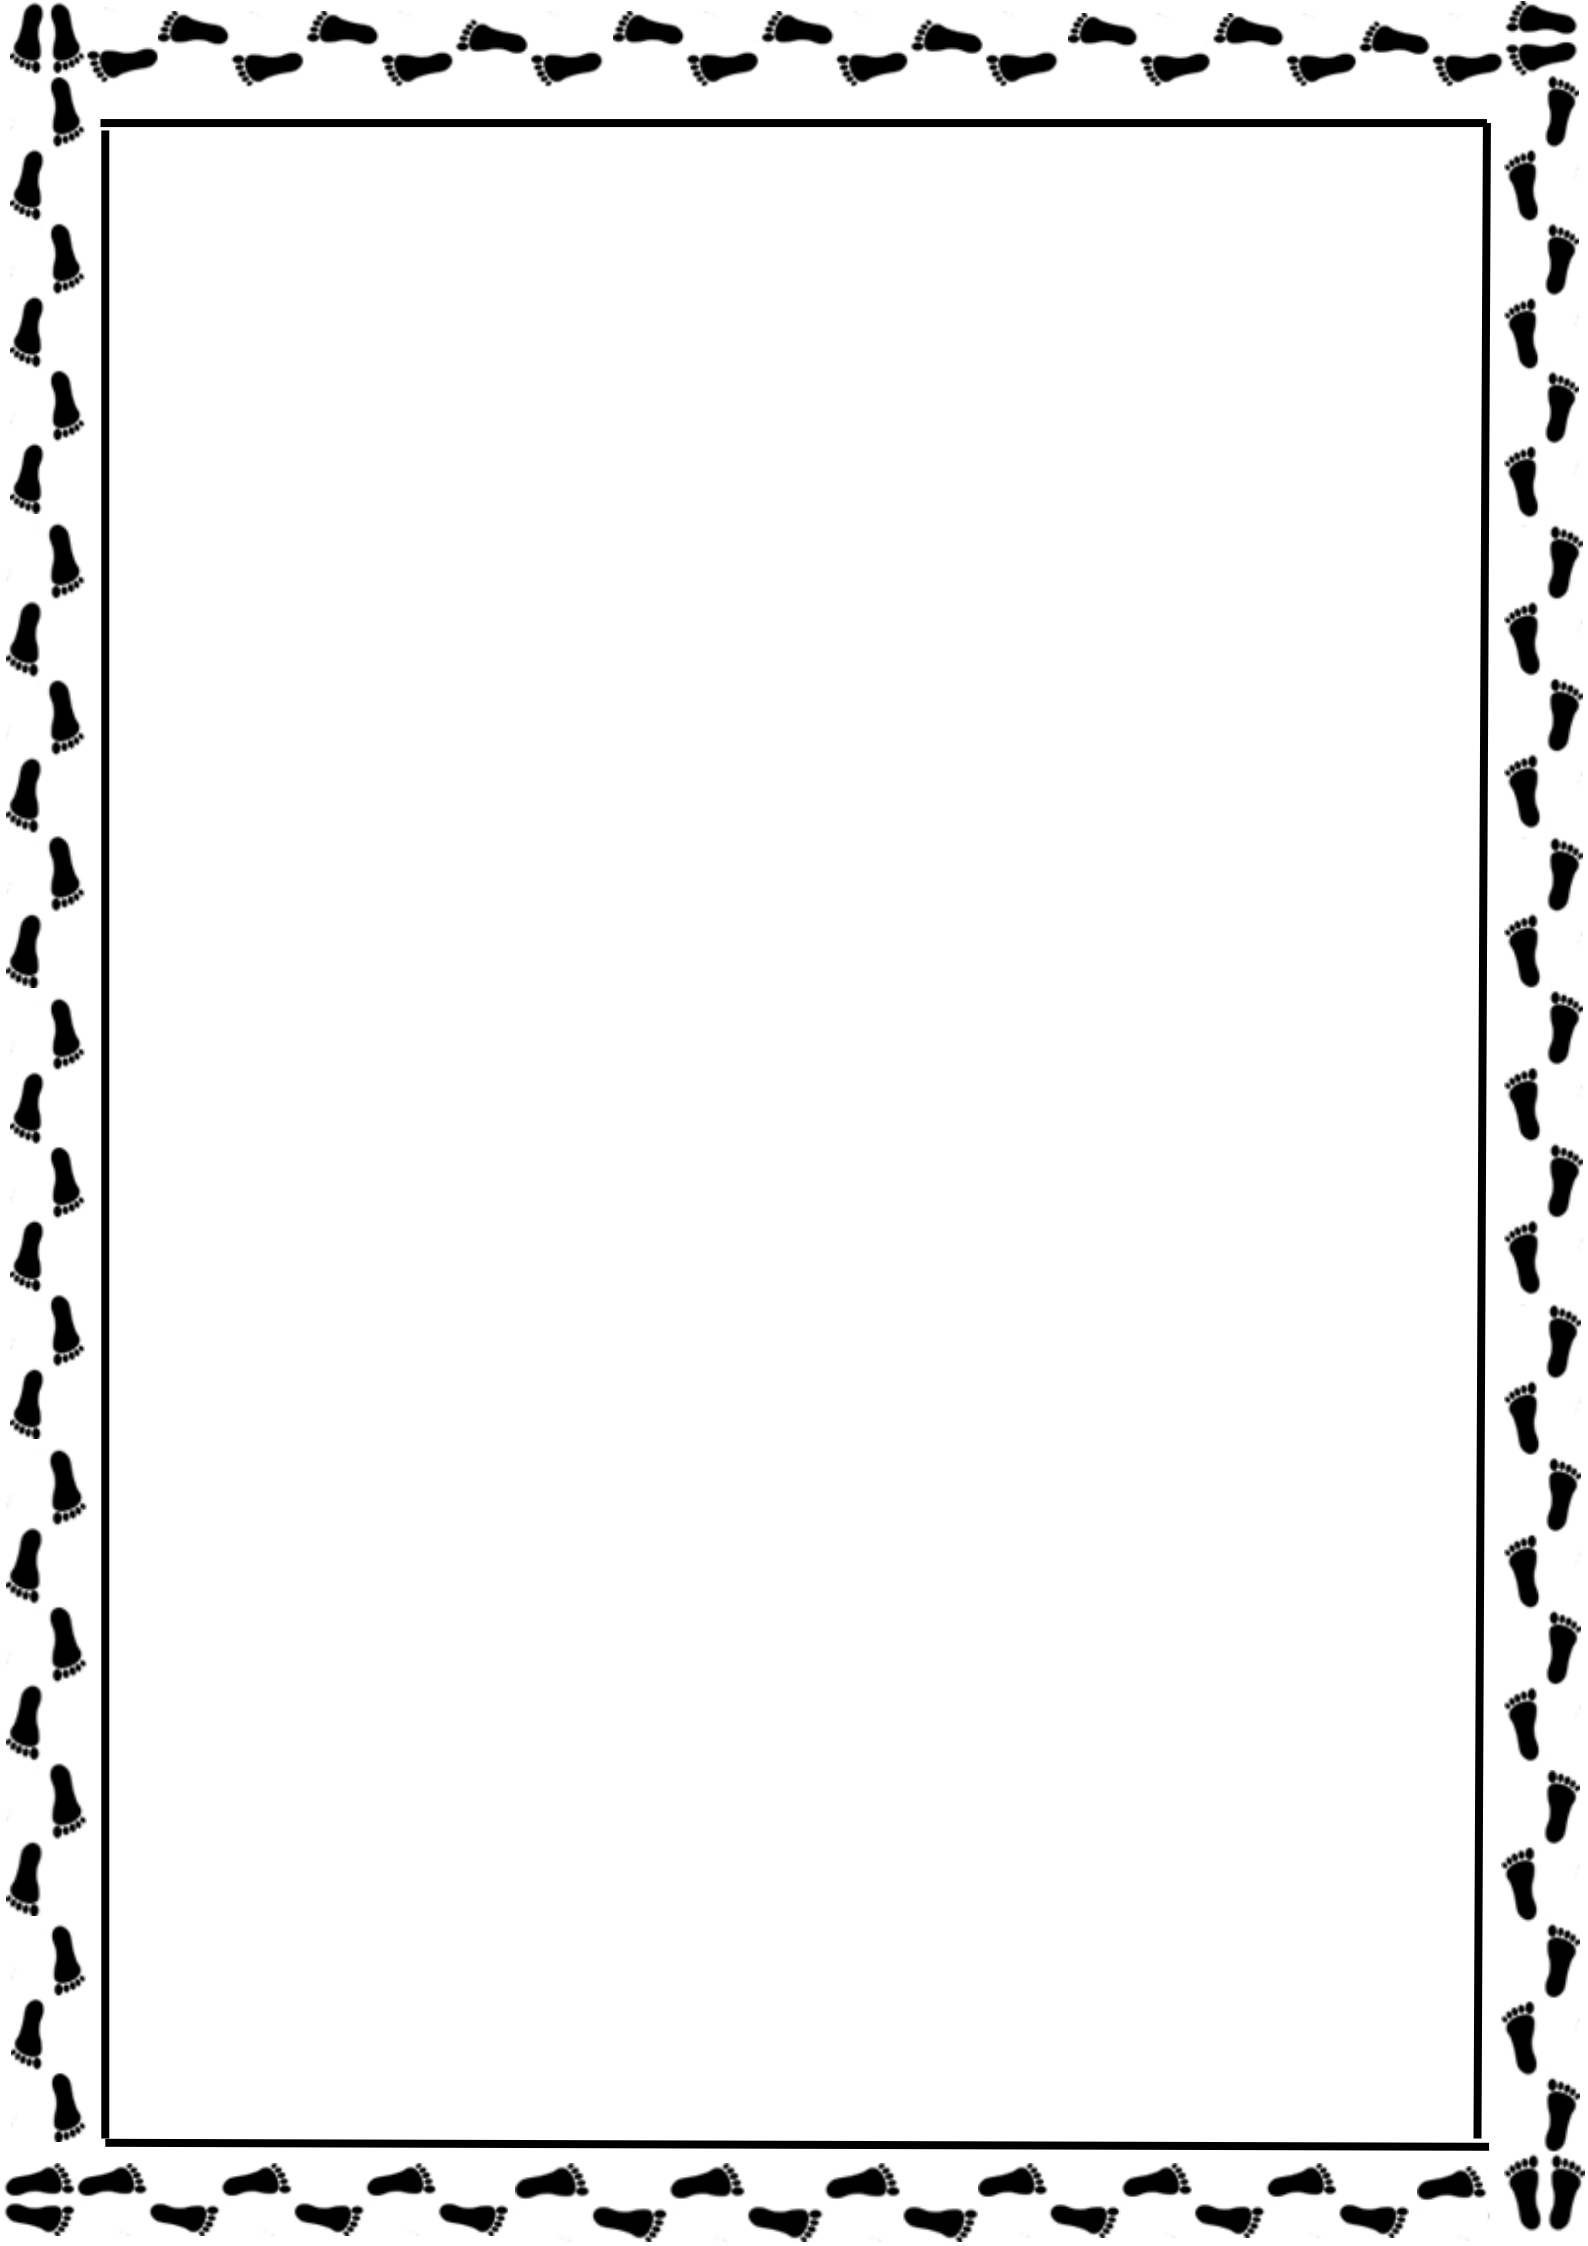

Or perhaps it was because they remembered that Gout and Rusty Box were the proud parents of one of the loudest and most horrendous sounding sulphur-crested cockatoos in history. Seriously, hearing that bird screech, was as excruciating as listening to a Beyonce song.

Getting back to the fact that I won't be able to write the Trash for a while. I thought I'd do the right thing, the responsible thing, the ethical and morally correct thing by letting the committee know in advance, so they could find replacements. Instead of being applauded and congratulated for my foresight and advanced planning, I was reprimanded and charged. Meanwhile, McTaf - who casually announced that he was also going to be AWOL and a replacement would need to be found to do the Hash Splash - was NOT. I find this to be a double standard of the highest calibre. What's good for the cockatoo should be good for the cock. So, in response, I simply won't write this one!!

Sigh, who am I kidding.....I am just too committed. Or maybe I need to be committed; I always get those two things confused.

In world news this week, the VPOTUS made a rant saying that the 'war on men' is over. I'm guessing that AH3 have decided this too, as apart from the obvious sexism that was demonstrated by my example above of McTaf escaping from his crimes, it seems that our RA does not think that he could find three wise women amongst us. Hmmph!

This week's run was almost the spitting image of the run from January 29th 2024. The only thing different about it was that I did not fall over, and Unstoppable did not bang her head. So, to make up for this, Moped injured his calf, and I hit Unstoppable on the head as we left. To be fair, there are only so many ways we can go out from our homes and get back in under an hour.

It was nice to have Moped join the runner's pack. Considering he has not run in years, he put us to shame. He was most worried about receiving the anchor - even though it was not possible, as, once again, ELF 'forgot' to run with it. (ELF obviously wants to keep that thing. He even repainted it red, probably to match the decor of his Magic Cave). Moped was so determined not to get awarded the anchor, that to slow himself down he had to feign a strained calf muscle. I must say, he fakes injury pretty well. He must have been a soccer player.

The runners finally caught up with the walkers on the home stretch. I had no idea that Betty Boop and Crunchy Crack were such pilferers. They were discovered gobbling up Grapes (and Olives) from low hanging branches. No wonder McTaf was walking on his own....he was embarrassed - or maybe worried about his low hanging fruit.

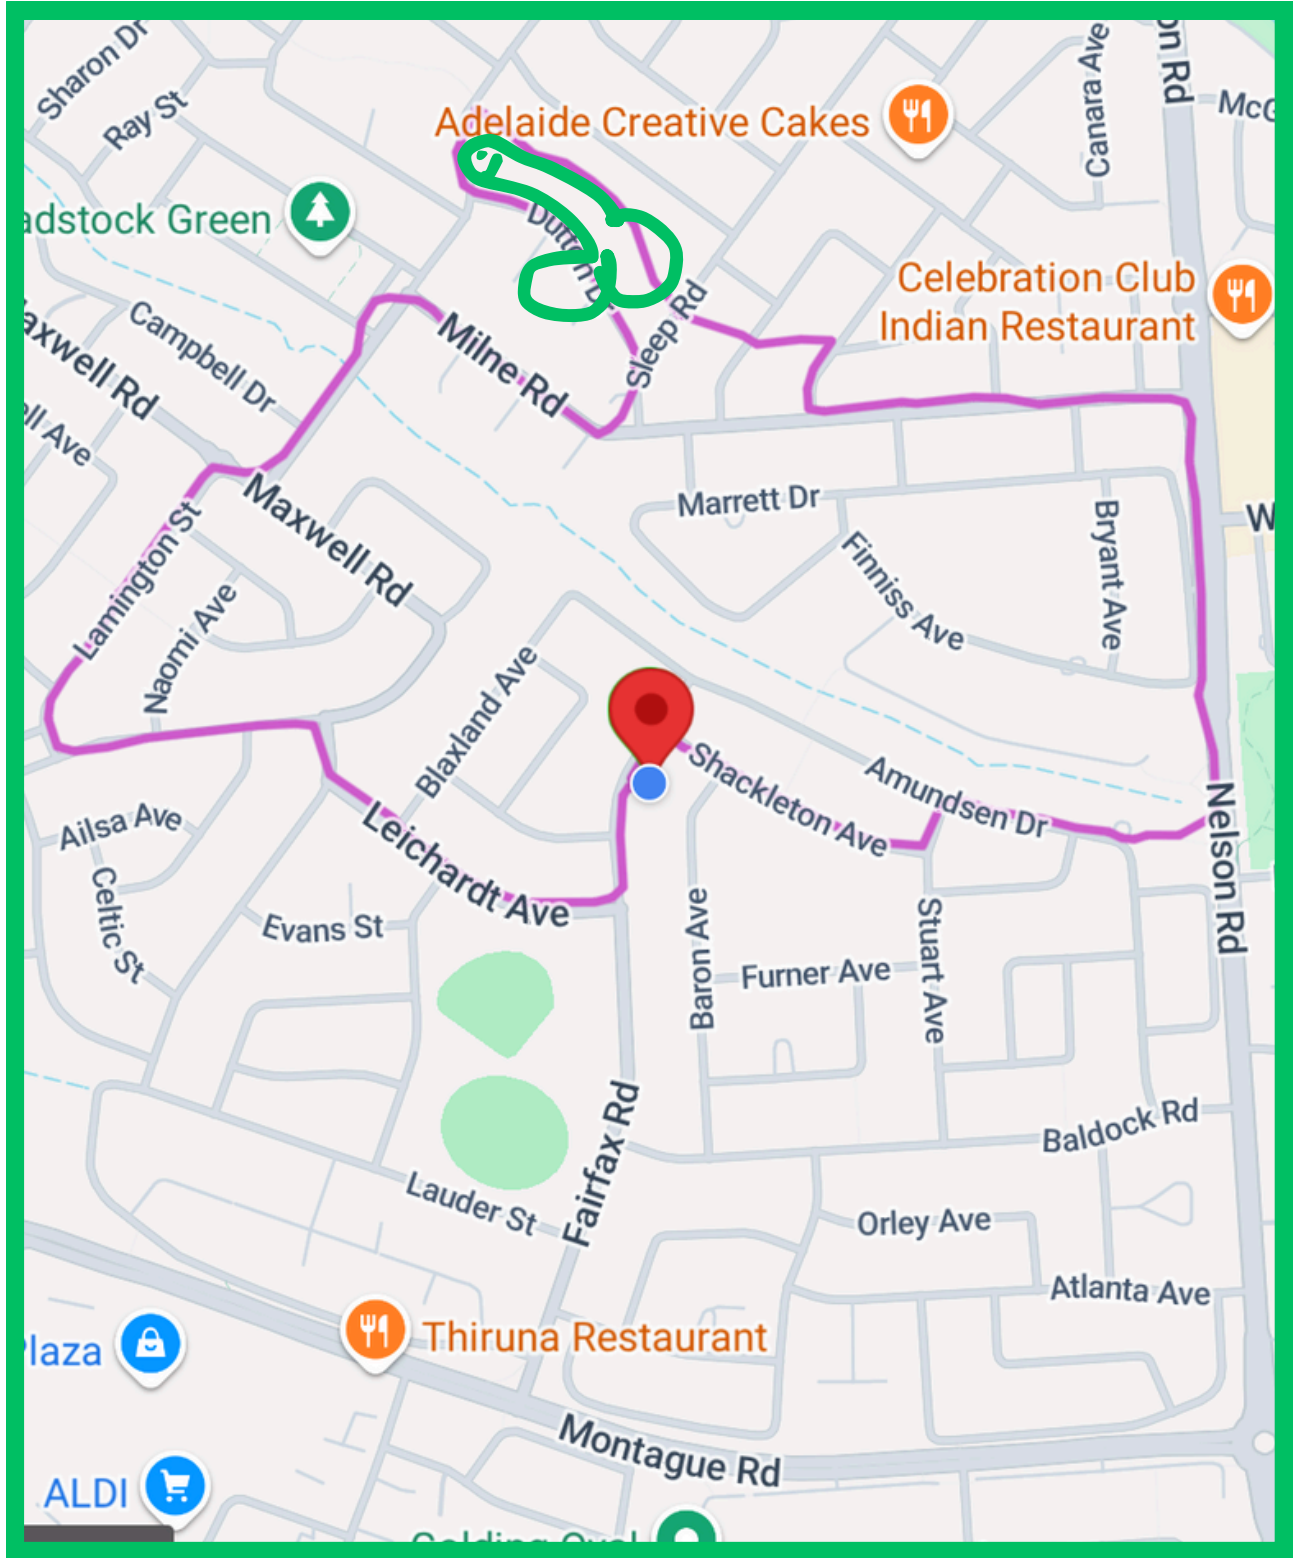

Nosh was amazing – salad/meat rolls followed by – yes, you guessed it – delicious rice pudding.

Thanks Gout and Rusty Box for a lovely evening - so nice to see them again. And thanks also to Moped and Unstoppable for offering to set the run next week at such short notice.
