Today's Trash was the easiest ever for me to write - because I didn't. All I've done is add titties (in the appropriate version).

Thanks so much to Left Right from the Harriettes for providing the joint trash for this joint run!!!!

Here 'tis:

Last Run

Tuesday 28st January Olive Oil Thomas Turner Reserve
19 Derwent Tce. Valley View

Joint run with Monday Hash. There were 14 who signed on with the Harriettes, including the Hare, and 29 or was it 9 that signed on with the Men.

After the initial confusion as to where the run site actually was (was it near the car park, or just in the middle of the park????) the hare gave her BOS, in the middle of the park, near a BBQ and the Men's changing rooms, but not near the toilets or the cars.

The BOS-----Oh dear, did I hear that the Hare ran out of chalk while setting the run, and all the shops were closed on the Public holiday, and here are some maps for the walkers!

Yes.

And so, the two packs (runners and walkers) set off, following the path near the Dry Creek to the check. Great trail so far, well-marked and picturesque with the golf course over the creek and the large gums shading us from the summer sun. Did I hear a kookaburra laughing as we wandered by?

The trail then headed into suburbia along Padbury Road, and there the runner walker split was found. The runners were nowhere to be seen, or heard, and the herd of walkers blindly followed McTaf along Padbury, looking for trail and finding none, and then suddenly realizing that there were 3 maps amongst us. Too late! We'd missed the turn off. Oh well. Soldier on to North East Road, and reunite with the trail as per the map.

Meanwhile, the runners were having difficulty in finding trail, with the Hare's chalk supplies dwindling. The end result of these two time-consuming circumstances, was the trail suddenly appeared for all when we passed under the O-bahn tracks, and both packs arrived safely at Raymore Reserve to find the Hare, the drink stop, and the shandy.

The trail on home was a pleasant walk, having been reunited with Dry Creek, and behold, we were HOME!

Can't complain about the run. It worked,

DOWN DOWNS RA's Bustop and stand-in LR

- Back Alley Sally, who revisited the Harriettes for her second run, and was labelled a free loading bastard.

- Captain Knockers informed the pack the toilets were closed. Who cares when there are plenty of trees around.

- 250 Runs Captain Knockers 13 Runs VT Lucky for some!

- Blackbox was charged with being BFTD by the Men's Hash.

- Palindones Leak on you 747Come fly with me Olive Oil 191 Drank it later, as was AWOL collecting vituals.

- Betty Boop Book abuseWho Ha Monday!

- Thank you drink for Captain Knockers and Leak on You for safeguarding our BBQ.

- Misfit and Gravel Rash for making their dogs run up hills.

- Running Bare for being competitive at checks 3 and 4.

- Olive Oil for bringing politics into the circle.

(the last three charges were from Bustop who was charging Harriettes only, methinks.)

- Puddles as GM of the Harriettes for enticing Olive Oil to sign on with them.

- VT charged Gravel Rash for spilling red wine at the last Hash, and not cleaning it up.

- Misfit charged Betty Boop for not bringing the "SPOON". She was presented with a little spoon.

- Elf was charged for not bringing the Men's Anchor.

- Olive Oil was charged for- BFTDTitties on the Run Run over an Hour Whatever!

- Moped and Running Bare were both charged for trying to charge each other for whatever!

- Hare Olive Oil

NOSH

Betty Boop, VT and Olive Oil cooked the BBQ. The men drank beer and ate the nibbles. Chips and dips, and of course, olives.

Nosh was super duper Hamburgers and sausages. Bread rolls Salads A rice salad. Tuna for the vegans and sauces of three varieties. There was a sweet, and I had two, but can't remember what they were.

Can't complain about the Nosh. It worked, And there was plenty of it.

ANNOUNCEMENTS
