Run 2524

With the temperature for the day in the high thirties, it was a not so enthusiastic pack that lined up to listen to the hare’s words of wisdom.

Fortunately, he managed to utter the words we all needed to hear; “Yes, there will be a drink stop” and “Yes it will be a pretty short run as it is so fucking hot”.

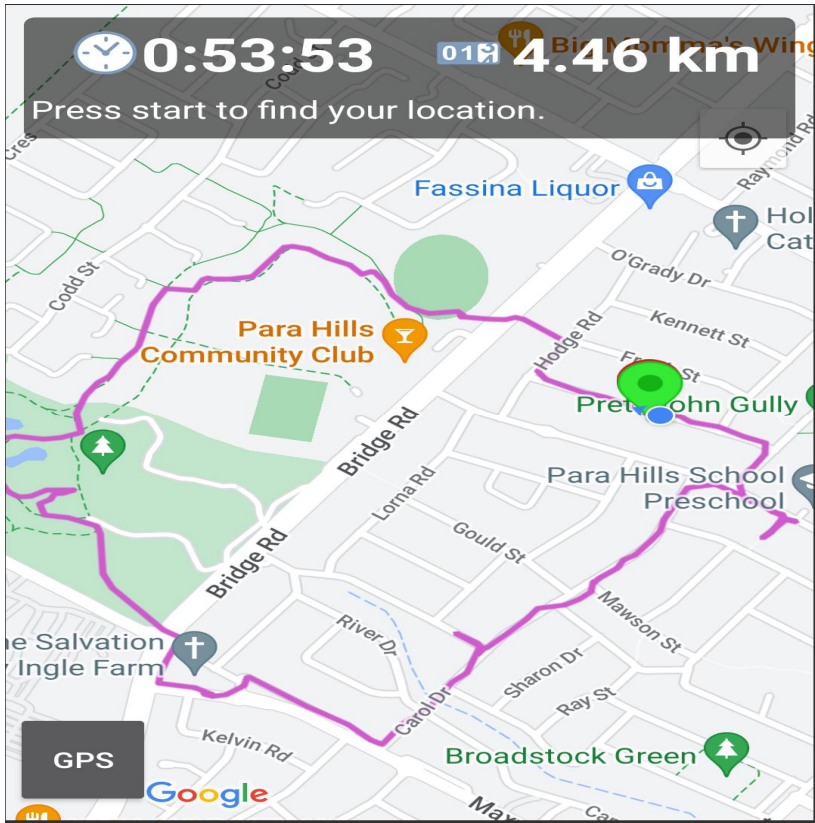

As we headed up the hill we were soon to be presented with an ongoing series of cunning checks, generously garnished with plenty of false trails. Leading through the highlights of Para Hills, the runners were tortured by a couple of additional loops while the walkers slowly meandered closely behind the hare.

After crossing Bridge Road we soon heading in the direction of the Paddocks and when the trail headed in the direction of the dog park we instinctively knew that it was time for a drink stop which would surely be at the dog park or at the top of the nearby hill. As we turned towards the hill we could literally taste the beer, but when we got to the top there was no bloody sign of the esky, the beer or Snitch. As we looked down below, we could only see an obnoxious little Elf, chuckling mischievously, clearly admiring his evil work!

Turning towards the sports club, the observant amongst us noticed Snitch in the distance (in a bright green AH3 shirt) manning a drink stop close to Bridge Road. Sparing Snitch the torture of lugging an esky of beer to the car park the hare provided cups of Stones Green Ginger wine which quenched our thirsts and fortified us for the short on-home.

Runners were back at the cave in just under 55 minutes after enjoying what had been a well-set, sensible run for the conditions.
