Run 2522

With many still on holidays for the new year, it was great to see a huge turnout with plenty of youth and returnees in amongst the pack.

The hares had sensibly set a split run which saw everyone getting to enjoy the highlights of Ingle Farm and Pooraka as well as an early piss stop, with the runners (a small pack of 6) being treated to an additional tour up Grand Junction Road and then down Bridge Road.

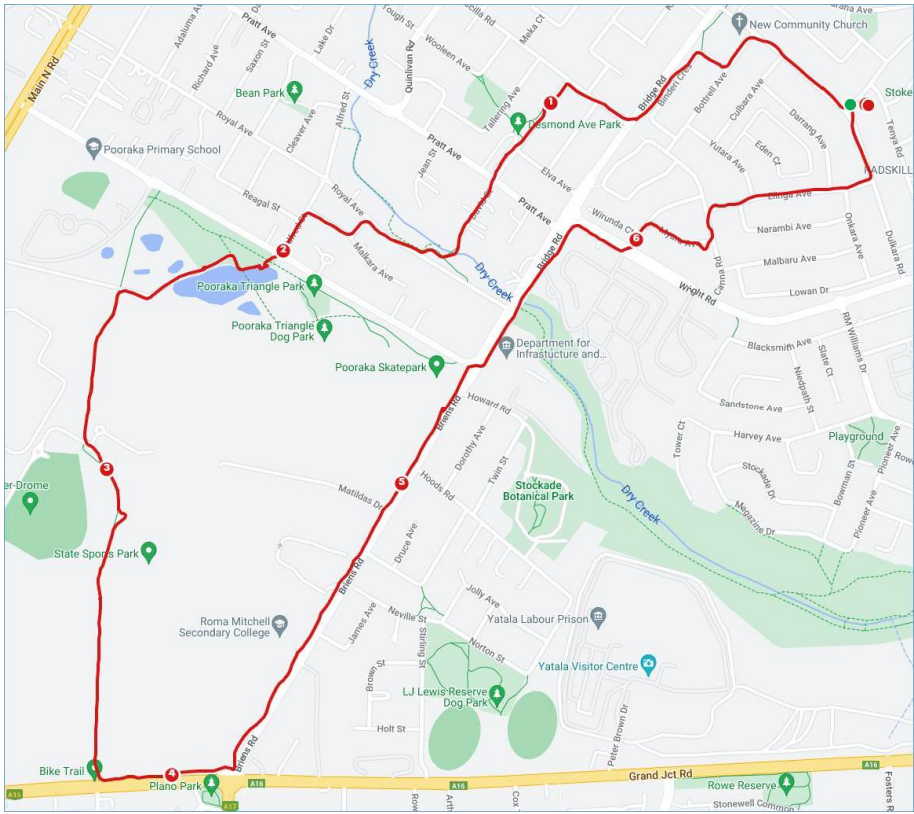

Unfortunately "checks" had been left off the "L-learner" hare's checklist so the main impediments to those front running bastards were the welcome drink-stop and the not so welcome harassment from Olive Oil who was looking for an unsuspecting candidate to inherit the "highly esteemed" anchor.

With only 5 other candidates, Olive did her best to highlight the "competitive" efforts of her fellow-runners, but they were all sensible enough to shrug off this unwanted attention. At times Baxter was looking particularly vulnerable, but probably needs to come along more often to be considered a serious contender [Come and run more often Baxter, we need more good runners!].

Back at the run site in just over the hour, there was plenty of opportunity to cool off in the swimming pool, before the RA took the opportunity to welcome the large contingent and dispense liquid justice to those most deserving.

With the circle done and dusted . we were treated to generous servings of Quiche and salads , complemented by apple pie like deserts.
