Run 2540

As we gathered for the hare’s briefing there were a couple of indications that this might be a long run (Ninja too tired after helping set the run and Olive complaining that her torch headlamp only had a battery life of 9 hours!). All concerns quickly evaporated, however, when the hare mentioned those magical words – “Yes, there will be a drink stop”. She should also probably have mentioned – “But you will certainly earn it”.

With plenty of checks and false trails, the trail kept the small pack together well, and with Bearded Clam electing to look for anchor victims amongst the walkers group, the small pack had little reason to worry.

We were soon to discover that the hare a planned a cunning anticlockwise spiralling route that would take us through Kentish Green and up to Milne Road before looping us back past Burragh reserve. At this point a well laid check revealed a walker/runner split which saw the walkers take a short route to the drink stop at Unstoppable’s place, while the runners were “rewarded” with a loop around Armstrong Reserve (with numerous checks and false trails) before taking us to the drink stop for a well-deserved beer.

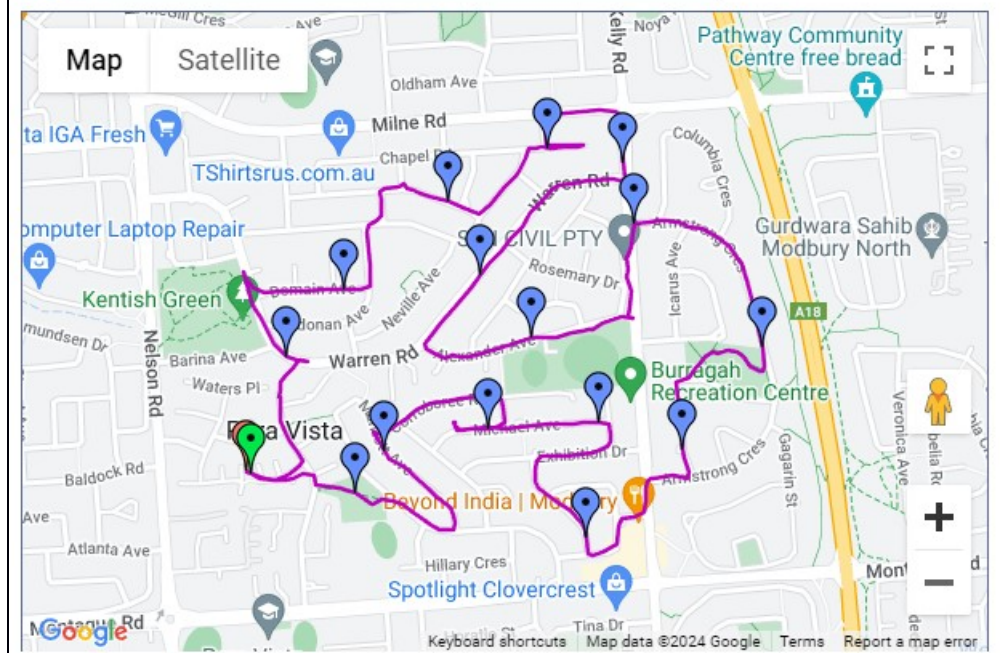

A short stretch with a couple more checks saw the runners back at the run site in just under 80 minutes with the walkers arriving back soon after.

As we gathered for the circle (to be conducted by stand-in RA, McTaf) there was general agreement that this had been a really challenging, well-set run. Plenty of checks and false trails kept the pack together well and the cunning loops kept us guessing as to where we would find trail next.

With pizzas arriving just before the start of the circle, the famished pack proceeded to demolish the pizzas before the RA proceeded to punish the guilty and not so guilty, and then himself getting stitched-up with the “much loved” anchor by a cunningly well-organised Bearded Clam. Hopefully, the walkers get to enjoy the company of this “much loved” accessory for many months to come!
